From Grosvenor
Lowrey

New York, Sept 28th 1878^a

My Dear Edison:

I have not received a notification from Mr Edson of Monday's meeting. My impression is that they prefer not to talk with me in advance of our coming together. I am quite convinced that it will be most for your interest and mine, in dealing with them, that I should act with and for you, entirely; and I shall therefore decline to be interested, and will approach the whole matter from your side of the business.

I will be at my office at ten o'clock on Monday morning.¹ I think you should come here before seeing either of them,² that we may confer, and that I may inform myself, a little more fully, as to the terms which were proposed. You can then call upon Mr Edson and return with him to my office. Yours Very truly

G. P. Lowrey

LS, NJWOE, DF (TAEM 18:10). Letterhead of Porter, Lowrey, Soren & Stone, Attorneys & Counsellors at Law. "New York," and "187" preprinted.

1. On 30 September, Lowrey telegraphed Edison, "I must have misunderstood you as to the day of meeting here Is it tomorrow I have some good news for you." They apparently did meet with Tracy Edson later that day (see Docs. 1465 and 1467). Preparatory to the proposed meeting with Edson, Lowrey had arranged to meet with Edison on 24 September, but on that day he was telegraphed by Stockton Griffin, "Edison was up all night went to bed at ten oclock think he forgot engagement with you." Two days later, Lowrey again sought a meeting with Edison who telegraphed in reply, "If I come to New York I lose the day—time valuable on light please come out." Francis Jordan to TAE, 24 Sept. 1878; Lowrey to TAE, 24, 26, and 30 Sept. 1878; Griffin to Mary Edison, 24 Sept. 1878; Griffin to Lowrey, 24 Sept. 1878; TAE to Lowrey, 26 Sept. 1878; all DF (TAEM 18:4-6, 8-9, 11).

2. It is unclear if the other party was James Banker, who had joined with Edison in his efforts to gain an interest in Edison's work on electric lighting; Hamilton Twombly, who was apparently negotiating separately; or the Mr. Billings mentioned in Lowrey's letters to Edison of 1 and 2 October (Docs. 1465 and 1467).
